GM AUTO STRIKE SETTLED

DETROIT, March 13 (AP)—The General Motors strike was settled today. Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey announced at 2:45 p. m. the company and the union had reached an agreement for termination of the strike with respect to national issues subject to ratification. Settlement was on the basis of an 18½ cents an hour wage increase (16½ per cent).

STALIN SAYS CHURCHILL LIES; REDS DRIVING ACROSS IRAN

Reads Close on Iraq, Turkey

By JOSEPH GOODWIN

TEHRAN, March 13 (AP)—Russian combat troops in full campaign kit were declared by British and other official sources today to have closed within 20 miles of this capital at Karaj and to be moving southwest across Northern Iran close to the borders of Turkey and oil-rich Iraq.

(The reports caused U. S. State Sec. Byrnes to announce in Washington last night the dispatch of another note to Moscow demanding an explanation.)

This correspondent flew over Karaj, 20 miles from Tehran, and counted 14 Sherman tanks, a score of other vehicles and saw half a dozen Red fighter planes at Kazvin to the north.

Premier Qavam Es Saltaneh, just returned from inconclusive negotiations in Moscow over the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran, declared today no agreements were reached and said no new negotiations are under way.

Reports told of Russian combat troops entering the towns of Minneh, Maragheh and Miyandub, close to the southern end of Lake Urmia, near the Turkish and Iraq borders.

Reports from Azerbaijan province indicated a new Russian cavalry column was fanning into Iran through Astara on the Caspian sea.

Russian troops were obligated by international agreement to have withdrawn by March 2.

A British Foreign Office spokesman in London said that government has received reports of "considerable" Russian troop movements toward Tehran and the Iraq frontier.

(The British expressed concern over the continued presence of Russian troop concentrations in Iran and said the new troop movements were noted as early as March 4.)

(The British Foreign Office spokesman was quoted as saying the Russian troop movements had increased the gravity of a tense situation.)

(The spokesman said these troop movements still were unexplained by the Russian government, but Britain was "pressing for a reply" to the British demand for an explanation of the continued presence of Red Army forces in the country.)

(Foreign Sec. Ernest Bevin was reported to have instructed Britain's charge d'affaires in Moscow, Frank Roberts, to tell the Kremlin the British government "insists" on an immediate explanation.)

Both Iraq and Iran are rich in oil. Iran is the world's fourth largest producer.

Leftist agitation has been evident in Iran and some political observers expressed belief the Russian moves near the capital might be planned to create "unrest and rebellion" in Tehran, as in the northern province of Azerbaijan. The leftist Tudeh party has been especially active in Tehran the past week.

Russian interest in Turkey has been expressed in at least two phases. Russia has demanded that Turkey cede to Russia the Black sea provinces of Kars and Ardahan. The Russians also are reported to have demanded bases in the Dardanelles.

Premier Qavam said in an interview with foreign correspondents:

"I have protested in writing to the Soviet government concerning the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran, and made similar protests orally to Stalin."

The premier is now de facto dictator of Iran since parliament adjourned yesterday without extending its life. Left wing demonstrations prevented the deputies from meeting.

Bulletin

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight Generalissimo Stalin had told a Pravda reporter that Winston Churchill's speech in Fulton, Mo., was "very dangerous" and contained "lies" about Warsaw, Belgrade, Bucharest and Budapest.

Iranian law prohibits election of a new parliament while foreign troops are on Iranian soil.

The premier said he was "accepting full responsibility" for governing Iran in the absence of a parliament.

The Russian garrison at Karaj—their nearest to Tehran—last week received a 26-car train from Kazvin which carried three Sherman tanks, three armored cars, six trucks, three carloads of food and ammunition, and carried eight or ten new tank and artillery officers.

Two nights later residents of Karaj reported a column of troops had arrived.

At Takistan, north of Kazvin, five fuel trucks were moving southward, and 22 tank trucks were lined up in Kazvin. Six Red fighter planes and one observation craft stood on the runways of the Russian airdrome at Kazvin. The Russians apparently have numbers of vehicles in Kazvin.

Southeast of Teheran, the Russians continue to hold Garmsar, and an Iranian column of 1500 men, turned back at that desert railway post a week ago, remains at Veramin awaiting Russian evacuation.

Truman Gets Byrnes Report as Reds Move

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—President Truman received a rapid fire report on critical international affairs from State Sec. Byrnes today, presumably centering around Red Army movements in Iran.

These other developments occurred:

W. Averell Harriman, American ambassador to Moscow, gave the Senate foreign relations committee a report on Russian relations.

Ambassador Hussein Ala of Iran called at the State Department to see Lloyd Henderson, chief of the Office of Middle Eastern Affairs, asserting he was seeking the latest information on conditions in his own country.

Some interest was manifested by officials here in press dispatches from Iran stating that a Russian force in Iran included Sherman tanks. These American monsters were lend-leased to the Russians for use against the Germans. Any Russian employment of lend-lease arms in Iran under the present circumstances could provide the basis of new American diplomatic protests.

Press Secretary Ross was asked about reports in Britain that Mr. Truman was seeking a new meeting of the "Big Three"; that the President had been in communication with British Prime Minister Attlee, and that he also was trying to contact Marshal Stalin.

"On the whole," Ross said,

Attlee Seen Willing To Call Big 3 Parley

Wage Pact Reported Reached in GM Strike

DETROIT, March 13 (AP)—General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers were nearing an agreement on the issues that have kept 175,000 idle in the 113-day old strike, authoritative sources disclosed this forenoon.

As a negotiating session that began yesterday afternoon continued today, a corporation official who asked his name not be used, told newsmen agreement had been reached on the wage issue and that "a few other non-economic issues" remained to be resolved.

The official did not say whether the wage agreement was on the basis of an 18½ cents an hour increase, as offered by the corporation, or the 19½ cents an hour demanded by the union.

Another management source, asking not to be quoted by name, said the negotiations now in progress contemplated a definite settlement of the entire dispute and "not just another deal."

Union heads, including President R. J. Thomas, Vice President Walter P. Reuther and Secretary-Treasurer George F. Addes, withheld comment. They were striving for a settlement before departing for Washington tomorrow to attend a CIO strategy meeting.

They made no comment on reports if a settlement is not reached today the strike would continue until after the annual convention of the UAW-CIO starting at Atlantic City March 23 to 31.

The prolonged strike already has cost GM more than $350,000,000 in unfilled orders. The wage loss to the strikers has been calculated to date by the union at $127,690,000 and by the management at $144,966,000. The union figured the work week at 40 hours and the corporation at 45.6 hours.

Von Blomberg Dies at Trial

NUERNBERG, March 13 (AP)—Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, Minister of War in the first Hitler cabinet, died of heart failure today at the 116th General Hospital where he was waiting to be summoned as a witness in the Nuernberg trials.

Von Blomberg, 67, a member of an aristocratic Pomeranian family, started one of the major sensations of Nazi Germany when on Jan. 12, 1938 he defied social conventions of the German military and took as his second wife a stenographer, Erika Gruhn.

As a result Von Blomberg resigned as Minister of War and Generalissimo of Germany's land, sea and air forces and Hitler assumed control of the armed forces himself.

MRS. FRANCES GILMAN Court Laughs Bring $5 Fine

INP by Bill Jones

Woman Lawyer's Smile Is Contempt

Cautioned by the court to be more responsive in her answers, Mrs. Frances Gilman, Hazelton st., Dorchester, an attorney, was today fined $5 for contempt by Judge Wilson in Suffolk Probate Court when she failed to heed the warnings.

Mrs. Gilman was testifying during a hearing on a petition brought by her estranged husband, Allan Gilman, Stearns rd., Brookline. Gilman is seeking to have his wife adjudged in contempt for failure to abide by a decree of Judge Wilson's which gave him the right to see his son, Jerome, 5, twice a week.

Several times during questioning by the husband's attorney Judge Wilson cautioned the witness to be more responsive and to desist from smiling.

When her only answer to a subsequent question was a smile, Judge Wilson said:

"I fine you $5 for contempt of court—for your smiling and laughing at the court."

Her attorney, Joseph R. Abrams paid the fine at his client's request.

The case is continuing.

'Geta Job,' Gloria Tells Her Mother

NEW YORK, March 13 (INS)—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski told the N. Y. Journal-American today that she felt no mother but remained adamant in her suggestion that Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt is able to, and ought to, support herself.

The 22-year-old heiress, in a telephone interview from Mexico City, indicated she had no intention of revoking her decision cutting off her mother's allowance of $21,000 a year.

Gloria, on attaining her 21st birthday and coming into a fortune of more than $4,000,000, immediately stopped her mother's income.

"The money the court formerly gave her I am now giving to blind, homeless and starving children. For this purpose I have formed a foundation which is already operating," Gloria said.

"In order to make sure the children receive the help they need, I am personally doing the secretarial work at the foundation. As a child I was desperately unhappy. I see so many children in the world today who are suffering, I want to help them."

Gloria reiterated her advice that her mother get a job in the following phone interview:

Q—Do you feel bitter toward your mother? A—No.

Q—What led you to stop her income? A—When I became 21 I felt it was time that I make my own decisions and I am going to continue to do so.

Q—There have been reports you were influenced in your decision by your husband (Leopold Stokowski, 64-year-old symphony conductor). Is that true? A—No. That is ridiculous.

Q—Your mother has said that being advised to get a job is all very well, but that finding one is something different again. A—She has worked in the past, and I am certain she can again if she wishes.

Q—Your mother has said she had to pawn an engagement ring (a gift of her late husband, Reginald Vanderbilt), and then had to sell it outright for $30,000, about 75 per cent of its value. A—I know nothing about the ring.

Q—Have you heard from your mother? A—No. My husband and I have been traveling from place to place.

Q—Do you plan to get in touch with her? A—I am perfectly willing to talk with her anytime.

Q—If you were convinced your mother were in need would you come to her help. A—I think the statement I made explains everything. (She apparently referred to her conviction that Mrs. Vanderbilt would have no trouble getting a job.)

Q—How long do you expect to remain in Mexico? A—Two or three more weeks. We are not certain where we are going then. I may have another statement to make later in a few days.

Today in her fourth-floor apartment in the "ownstone" house at 31 E. 51st st., Gloria's 43-year-old mother remained in seclusion. Her maid said she had been up all night answering telephone calls and was exhausted.

Gloria's Mother Gets Offer of Movie Role

HOLLYWOOD, March 13 (INS)—Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, mother of Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, was offered a job in the movies today by Director-Producer Roy Del Ruth.

Del Ruth telegraphed Mrs. Vanderbilt an offer to play the role of a wealthy society woman in "It Happened on Fifth Avenue," and also serve as technical advisor.

Mercury 73, Sets Record For Date

Spring descended on Boston a week ahead of time today with balmy breezes, hot sun and temperatures which shattered all records for warmth on this date as mercury reached 73 at 2:30 p. m. and continued its upward climb.

The previous high mark for this date was 68 March 13, 1927. The unusually reasonable warmth caused some concern over the possibility of flood hazards in low-lying areas of the northern and western part of Massachusetts.

Arthur D. Weston, director of the division of sanitary engineering of the state public health department, said flood conditions could be expected if heavy rains occurred in the next few weeks.

The weather bureau predicted mild temperatures and some cloudiness tonight with scattered light showers tomorrow.

Divorces Vet Who Spurned Her

Although she had arranged with her insurance company employer to take off eight weeks when her husband came home from the wars, he returned after more than two years to spurn her love, Mrs. Louise Meyers Dillaway, Park dr., Back Bay, testified in probate court today. Then, after eight loveless days, during which he struck her twice, he took off a watch she had given him, threw it at her and stalked out of her life, she told Judge Dillon.

He gave her an uncontested divorce from Langdon H. Dillaway, of Medford, on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

Women Back Parole Board Bill

Prominent Greater Boston women today strongly advocated before the legislature to place the state parole board on full time basis and give its women members authority to act on all cases.

The bill they supported, filed by the Women's Committee for united action, provided certain changes in the present law, including:

1—A $500 pay raise for the chairman and male members of the board and a jump for two women members, from $225 to $500. The men members, now getting $450 would be raised to $500 and the chairman paid $550, would receive $600.

2—Two women members would sit on both men's and women's cases, not just on the cases of women as at present.

3—Members of the parole board would have to have three years residence in the state and would not be eligible for appointment by the governor unless they were equipped to serve through education and experience.

OPA in Nylon Racket Drive

OPA investigators went into the black market in search of nylon stockings today and it was earnestly hoped none of them gets killed in the rush.

Very solemnly, an OPA spokesman announced Boston was in the grip of a record-breaking black market in nylons—one that outstrips the wartime black markets in gasoline, meats and cigarettes.

He said that it's going to be stopped and that the housewife and the office girl is going to be freed from the clutches of black marketeers long before the annual Easter parade.

A young secretary and an office boy we know of stand ready to help any OPA investigators who do not know their way around. Here is their advice:

Just go to any office building in Boston where there are girls or women employees. Check up on the office magazine salesmen and any of the money peddlars that come in. A good smart inspector should be able to grab off an offender where he places his horse bets; that is, if he happens to be a betting man.

Another good bet not to overlook is the barroom. It's rumored many a prospect goes home well laden with nylons after his pocketbook has been loosened under the stimulation of a few drinks.

OPA now has discovered—that the consumer knew all the time—that the black market price on nylons is from $3 to $3.50 a pair. OPA ceilings are from $1.35 to $1.65.

Those who dabble in the rayon black market get $2 a pair for rayon hose that should retail legally from 44 cents to $1.01.

Good hunting.

Pauley's Nomination Withdrawn

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, March 13 (INS)—President Truman today withdrew the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be Undersecretary of the Navy. This was done at Pauley's request.

Announcement of this development was announced by the White House which made public an exchange of letters between Pauley and the President.

Pauley wrote:

"I have repeatedly stated that I would not consider asking you to withdraw my nomination until a full opportunity had been afforded to answer any charges, no matter how unfounded, my political opponents might have leveled against me.

"All the charges have been answered and shown to be false . . .

"No matter how complete the answers to false charges may be, I do not believe there is any immediate antidote for the current hysteria that has been engendered by these misrepresentations. Under these circumstances I do not feel that I would have the opportunity to render the Navy or you the high order of service both deserve.

"Accordingly, I ask that you withdraw my nomination.

"I shall be grateful always for your unwavering confidence."

The President said in part: "Your defense of your good name has been valiant and conclusive."

"My faith in your integrity and ability has been strengthened. Both the fight that you have waged, and your request for withdrawal now, have been made in good grace and with true American spirit. The nation will know, in more temperate times, the full worth of your devoted and patriotic services."

In closing the stormy hearings on Pauley's nomination, Sen. Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts said: "The naval affairs committee commends Edwin W. Pauley for his patriotic action."

"The majority of the committee assures Mr. Pauley in closing these hearings that they have no doubt regarding his personal integrity and administrative competence."

The bitterly controversial hearing on Pauley's nomination started Jan. 31 and was marked by many explosive developments. It resulted in the resignation of Harold L. Ickes as Secretary of the Interior.

Ickes testified Pauley in 1943 came to him with "the rawest proposition ever made me." Ickes said Hawley offered to raise $300,000 from California oil men for Democratic campaign funds if the government's suit to assert title to tidelands were dropped. Pauley denied ever having made such a proposition. He said Ickes had "misunderstood" him.

President Truman backed Pauley and declared at a news conference Ickes "could be mistaken."

MRS. HILDA H. QUIRK Urges Parole Board Change

INP by Carroll Meyer

Roxbury, the first speaker, said she was a member of 30 women's organizations and that they all favored the bill.

"Women now sit only on cases involving women," she said. "They should sit on every case, because men involved have mothers, wives or sisters and a woman is best equipped to act wisely and justly in where home problems are involved."

"The most important thing is that all members serve full time. It's a full time job."

Another speaker, Mrs. George S. Wilkins of Brookline, said women only wanted "harmonious interpretation of the laws" as far as the parole board goes.

"Paroles and politics do not mix," she said. "We are not interested in personalities. We want capable people on the board."

Still another who favored the legislation was Miss Mary E. Driscoll, for many years chairman of the Boston licensing board.

Tech's Atomic Iodine Wonder in Goiter Case

(Copyright, 1946, Boston Evening American)

Massachusetts Institute of Technology is producing in its famous cyclotron a radioactive iodine which doctors hope will cure toxic goiter—with one treatment—a technique that a Newton mother disclosed today has worked wonders for her in a little more than three weeks.

This almost incredible stride of medical knowledge is being put into practice by two Boston physicians, unidentified as yet because of the pioneer stage of their work.

The Newton patient's revelation followed a guarded statement last night by Dr. Karl T. Compton, M. I. T. president, that two dozen goiter sufferers had been treated with good results and that a paper in that connection will be published shortly in the Journal of the American Medical Ass'n.

Compton told members of the New England Hospital Assembly at the Hotel Statler that knowledge gained by scientists in the development of the atomic bomb, plus new types of scientific investigation, may open a new era in medicine.

The Newton woman, a 28-year-old mother of two children, disclosed to the Boston American today that she had been a toxic goiter sufferer for three and one-half years when she took the radioactive iodine treatment.

That was less than a month ago. A Beacon st. physician gave her, in water, 28 millicuries of the radioactive element, one small drink.

Since then she has gained several pounds. Her pulse has been restored to normalcy. Her eyes, which had been the characteristically bulging ones of a toxic goiter sufferer, are beginning to recede into normal position.

She had been told, she said, that within three or four months her goiter will have been cured.

Nor is that all. The medical men are optimistic that the radioactive iodine will arrest the growing of prematurely gray hair, which the Newton mother has. They have reason to believe, too, that it will arrest tooth decay.

Another promising aspect of the discovery is that the treatment, even in these early days of its application by its medical advocates, will cost the Newton mother less than a surgical operation.

Dr. Compton, in his talk to the banqueting group, said:

"Probably the great uranium piles which have been designed in connection with the atomic bomb development and which give off enormous quantities of radiation may supply a new radiation tool for medical science."

M. I. T. authorities emphasized today the institute is taking no part in the actual treatment of goiter sufferers but is leaving strictly to the medical profession the employment of radioactive iodine produced in the cyclotron.

Goering on Stand, Praises Self, Hitler

NUERNBERG, March 13 (INS)—Hermann Wilhelm Goering, erstwhile chief marshal of the Nazi Reich, took the witness stand in his own defense at the Nuernberg war crimes trial today and praised himself as the one man who could fulfill Adolf Hitler's "ideals."

Bereft of medals but neat in a gray uniform with brass buttons, Goering commanded unbroken attention.

He admitted he had listened "enthralled" to Hitler's initial beer hall speeches condemning the treaty of Versailles. He praised the early SA organization as composed of men "who often had to suffer heavily."

Goering spoke with deliberation, firmly and expressively, glancing frequently at his notes.

From 1931 on, Goering said, he had access to all circles in Germany, from industrial to religious. He said:

"As a matter of course I seemed the man suitable to aid the Fuehrer, and the Fuehrer could depend upon me absolutely."

"He knew I would muster all my power to spread our ideals."

"When we took over power Germany was at the lowest ebb in her development. She had eight million unemployed, no confidence in her political parties, a strongest increase in revolutionary tendencies and political insecurity."

Goering insisted that Hitler's assumption of power was legal, saying:

"If the Anglo-American election system had applied to Germany, the Nazis would have been able to form a government by the end of 1929."

Russian judges leaned forward

tensely and with obviously hostile reaction when Goering said:

"We wanted to finish off the Communist party as soon as possible because we were convinced they would have done the same with us."

These Days The British Loan

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

TWO CONFLICTING arguments for the British loan are made by the same persons:

A—That Great Britain is broke, unable to rehabilitate her industries, to import food for her people and to develop an export trade upon which her prosperity depends;

B—That unless the United States makes this loan, Great Britain will organize an economic bloc so formidable that it will literally knock us out of foreign markets.

If A is true, B cannot be true. If B is true, A is impossible. Yet the very same men, Mr. Clayton, Mr. Vinson, Mr. Byrnes and many others use both arguments at the same time. Apparently, in their anxiety, they are neither careful nor logical.

The best figures available, and I am sure that they are altogether short of the whole truth, show that the British have accumulated in the United States over the past five years, dollar assets amounting to $2,300,000,000, plus $700,000,000 of realizable credits in the RFC, totaling $3,000,000,000.

The British, it seems, feel that they require $4,900,000,000 to make up shortages during the next three years.

HOW DID THEY ACCUMULATE THAT $2,300,000,000 DURING THE WAR PERIOD?

IF THEY CAN DO IT IN WAR, WHY NOT IN PEACE?

If they have no assets anywhere else in the world, nothing anywhere in Europe, in the Argentine, in any other South American countries or in Asia or Africa, this $3,000,000,000 in the United States plus a $1,250,000,000 loan from Canada brings them close to the amount they say they need.

MR. VINSON said in his statement to the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency:

"The success of this policy depends upon securing prompt economic reconstruction, orderly currency arrangements, and the reduction of trade barriers."

"World trade cannot be restored until the war-devastated countries in Europe and the Far East are again able to produce, and to buy and sell."

"World trade cannot be restored until the currency restrictions that have plagued the world for more than a decade have been eliminated."

"World trade cannot be restored until the present barriers that block trade have been abolished. When the countries of the world are again producing, when they have put into effect fair currency and trade practices, world trade will expand and grow."

"Then the businessmen of all countries can secure access to world markets on fair and equal terms."

But this is true not only of Great Britain and ourselves; it is true for every country. What then is required at this moment is a total rehabilitation of world economy in the interest of the re-establishment of world trade.

As it is, a line is forming before the American Export-Import Bank for unrepayable loans. Every country will soon be standing in that line.

The official assurance that "the British case is unique and will not be a precedent for a loan to any other country" is not quite true.

The British case is NOT unique; it is UNIVERSAL. Every argument for a British loan, so-called, is true for France, Russia, Holland, Norway, Greece, China and every other country in Europe or Asia.

Nor can anyone guarantee that it will not serve as a precedent when everybody's needs are so great. And each pleader will prove that his is a special case.

IT WOULD SEEM to be more logical if the American people, the one lender, were told honestly what each country is asking and what funds are available in the United States for this purpose.

I emphasize the word, honestly, because the statistical data now available is shockingly inadequate for the forming of a proper judgment.

What is really needed is an appraisal of the entire situation.

The London Economic Conference of 1933 might have done that job, were it not for Mr. Roosevelt's recalcitrance—to put it kindly and gently.

Bretton Woods might have done that job and, indeed, should have, but it became embroiled in what must now be called Sovietisms—mushy non-co-operation.

There is no telling from the mountain of purposely confused testimony what really is needed to rehabilitate world trade.

It would be interesting if Mr. Vinson could be got to provide an exact figure for that.

Plan E Vote For Hub Urged

Permissive legislation, by which Boston voters would have the opportunity to express their wishes on the Plan E form of government, was urged today at a hearing before the legislative committee on cities.

House Speaker Frederick B. Willis, of Saugus, emphasized that his bill was filed before the last election as the result of rumors about the city's financial status. Willis said Mayor Curley admits the city faces a tax rate which is almost confiscatory.

Governor Tobin today reappointed John M. Whouley, of Cambridge, commissioner in the department of public utilities, at $7000 a year. He also nominated George E. Hyland, former Boston public works commissioner, to a $6000 post as associate commissioner on the same state board.

David M. Brackman of Boston who resigned from the department of public utilities, was given a $7000 yearly post on the appellate tax board.

David Holmes, Greenfield, was nominated for the state milk control board and James P. Cormack was reappointed trial justice for Ludlow district court.

Turn of the hunt to Boston resulted from a letter from a Boston man whose wife—about to become a mother—vanished from home without leaving a note or any clue.

He wrote Police Chief Martin V. O'Sullivan he believes the infant known as Frances may be his. Special Investigator John F. Bolton now is heading the probe in Boston.

Chief O'Sullivan, however, was gambling on the chance the mother still will come forward before court action starts here tomorrow morning before Judge John J. Darcy.

"In both the letter left with the baby and the one written to me this week, the mother has left no doubt that she is madly in love with her baby," the chief said. "I am giving her every chance to change her mind and come to me before the State takes action tomorrow to have the baby adjudged an abandoned child."

"I can't promise that there will be no prosecution, but the police will do everything they can to assist. If she needs help, we will see that she gets it."

It also was disclosed baby Frances will be baptized in the Catholic faith before the State is given any custody. Policewoman Beatrice V. Clarke made these arrangements as a result of the mother's declaration she "had baptized Frances with holy water" and the fact that the baby had a religious medal around its neck.

Hunt in the Greater Lawrence area continued despite the Boston search. Chief O'Sullivan checked today on every warehouse in the district as a result of a statement made by the mother in her latest letter of appeal. She had stated she had to "put her furniture in storage."

Frances, who has won the hearts of nurses at Lawrence General Hospital and has had a dozen adoption offers, was left in a basket at the door of an undertaker's home here Saturday. A note begged she be given to someone who would love her.

Then came a second letter, mailed to Chief O'Sullivan, in which the woman poured out her story of love.

Brother's Plea Fails, Both Guilty

A Woburn youth's attempt to shield his older brother, a co-defendant in municipal court, failed today, the young pleader getting off with a three-month suspended sentence—his brother drawing three months in the house of correction.

Charles Catino, 20, and Guy Catino, 23, both of Russell st., Woburn, had pleaded guilty to using an automobile without authority. They had appropriated it in Blackstone at here, March 6, picked up an ex-Marine and three girls from Woburn, then were apprehended in New Hampshire.

"My brother just went along; he didn't know the car was stolen," Charles told Judge Joseph T. Zottoli.

The jurist examined Guy's record and said, "I see you deserted your wife." He sent him to Deer Island.

Coast Guard Rescues 2 N. E. Draggers

Two New England draggers were en route to port today in low of rescuing Coast Guard craft.

The rudderless Richard J. Numan of Portland picked up 35 miles east of Mt. Desert Rock by the cutter Argo, is bound for Rockland, Me. The Gloucester dragger Caroline and Mary was bound for her home port in town of the cutter Theta, which picked her up when she ran out of fuel off Seal Island, N. S.

Bradley Here For VA Talks

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans' affairs, arrived in his four-star Army transport plane at Logan Airport today for a conference with VA branch, regional and hospital heads with a view to establishing a center which will speed up the handling of claims for New England veterans.

First to step off the plane was Marine Sgt. Ann Tomolinos of Worcester, attached to the Marine Corps paymaster's office in Boston, whom the general had given a "lift" from Washington.

Accompanying Bradley were F. R. Kerr, director of special services; H. V. Stirling, assistant administrator, vocational rehabilitation; O. W. Clark, assistant administrator, claims; Lt. Col. C. B. Hansen, special assistant; Walter H. Moore, secretary to the administrator, and T. Otis Black, director, field service public relations.

Curtis Nance, new head of the New England VA office, welcomed Gen. Bradley. The general will fly back to Washington tonight.

Judge Ford in Federal Court today ordered the Boston Commission Co. at Fish pier be enjoined from selling or delivering frozen scallops and swordfish at prices in excess of OPA ceilings.

Landlord Gyp Gets Jail Term For Polygamy and Larceny

With his two wives sitting side by side in Roxbury court, one of them weeping quietly, Charles W. Harwood, 28, Buswell st., Back Bay, today pleaded guilty to 11 counts of larceny and a charge of polygamy.

Elevator Kills Vet as Schooling O. K. Arrives

Ex-PFC Chester M. Ross, 37, of Cedar st., Roxbury, who wore five battle stars for his feats from North Africa to Berlin, was crushed to death today while repairing an elevator cable in a Purchase st. building.

At about the time of his death, notice was received at his home that the government had approved his application for training as an elevator mechanic and machinist. His sister, Mrs. Catherine Desola, said the trade school training had been his greatest ambition.

The victim, his clothing caught in cables, was discovered among the gears at the top of a four-story building. The elevator had stopped at the third floor.

Stanley Strzesak, 32, a Cambridge rubber worker, found the victim when he entered the elevator and got no answer on summoning the elevator. He notified firemen who removed the body after a priest had been called and given the last rites of the Catholic church.

District Fire Chief James J. Kelleher said Ross probably died instantly. He asked that an inquest be held.

Ross, one of four brothers in service, had served more than three years in the Army.

W. L. Morrisette, Jr., N. E. Air Lines Head

Appointment of William L. Morrisette, Jr., as New England district manager of Eastern Air Lines in Boston was announced today by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president and general manager of the company.

Morrisette served Eastern Air Lines as city manager in Baltimore.

William L. Morrisette, Jr., before going to going to St. Louis in 1944 as district manager. He succeeds John M. Lyons, who recently left to take a position with a New York bank.

Wife No. 1, Mrs. Helen Baxter Harwood, superintendent of nurses at Otis General Hospital, Cambridge, later conferred with Wife No. 2, the former Sylvia Melvin, as to who will occupy Harwood's apartment.

Both wives expressed their love for Harwood who was arrested by police after several persons had complained he had taken deposits from them for the rental of an apartment and had failed to move out.

The court imposed a sentence of one month on each of the 11 larceny counts and two years on the polygamy charge. Execution of sentence was deferred until tomorrow.

Questioned by the court as to why he had taken deposits from the prospective renters, Harwood said he had a civil suit pending and this was the only way he could think of to get some money.

He allegedly told victims of his scheme he was an FBI man and was headed for Africa. At the time of his arrest, police say they found 13 letters all in envelopes addressed to the people whose money he had taken.

Each letter explained the landlord had refused to allow subletting of the apartment and that the deposit would be returned "in due time."

The court questioned Harwood on his two marriages without benefit of divorce and asked how he thought he was going to get away with such action.

"It was just one of those things," he said.

The first wife, promising to stand by her mate, said they were married Feb. 10, 1944, and lived in Buswell st. until last Feb. 4 when she took up residence at the Cambridge hospital.

Two weeks after her departure Harwood had his second wife installed in the apartment, according to police, and she, too, has promised to stand by him.

Harwood is on parole from State Prison, where he served time on a burglary charge.

Veteran Enrollment Fills N. E. Colleges

Returning veterans are enrolling in New England colleges at such a rate that educators express concern over the chances of high and preparatory school graduates being accepted into freshman classes.

In a survey today it was found that at Harvard, M. I. T., Boston University, Boston College, Dartmouth and Tufts, the percentage of veterans matriculating next fall will be as high as 80 per cent. The result has been that approximately 90 out of every 100 civilian applications in many colleges have been turned down.

Brown University Amherst and Holy Cross have announced that freshman classes will consist of 50 per cent ex-GIs and 50 per cent civilians.

Emery Walker, dean of admissions at Brown, said first year class there will be limited to 500 students. Already, he added, 2500 applications from high school graduates and GIs have been rejected.

Amherst officials are considering increasing the current enrollment of 850 but a final figure has not been decided on. Dean Vincent Morgan disclosed. He said, however, that the entering class will be equally divided between veterans and civilians.

Holy Cross is also considering an increase in the total number of students to be admitted, the number to be set at 1350. At present the college has a waiting list of between 500 and 1000.

At Hanover, N. H., Dean Robert C. Strong of Dartmouth said the freshman class there will be cut from 700 to 400, with equal admissions for GIs and high school grads, the cut being necessary to make room for returning upper classmen. The total enrollment for the entire college, he said, will be about 2400, with 80 per cent veterans.

M. I. T.'s freshman class of 450 will be approximately 80 per cent veterans, according to B. Alden Thresher, dean of admissions, who said 2000 applications a week are being turned down despite an enrollment increase from 3000 to 4500.

Bates College at Lewiston, Me., will open its fall term with a freshman class of 375. Only 50 of the entering students being non-veterans. A new class of 150, all veterans, was inaugurated last week.

At Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me., 60 per cent of the 735 students will be veterans. Williams Colleges expects approximately 80 per cent veterans in the student body next fall. University of New Hampshire will have 60 per cent of its 3100 enrollment from ex-GI ranks. At Rhode Island State a similar percentage of veteran students will be enrolled.

Harvard's 1000 freshmen will have about 55 per cent ex-servicemen. At Boston College a 50-50 basis will prevail.

Boston University with an expected enrollment of 18,000 students has as yet made no analysis of the percentage of civilians and veterans to be enrolled for the fall term.

Boston Jewry Celebrate Purim

Greater Boston Jewry today was celebrating Purim, which commemorates the deliverance of their ancestors in Persia 2000 years ago from Haman, who had cast lots for destruction of the Jews.

The Synagogue observance will begin Saturday evening and continue Sunday, but the observance is marked by many days of giving of gifts, masquerading, donations to charity, and tableaux and plays: Temple Sinai Sisterhood in Brookline will present a Purim fantasy, and tomorrow the Sisterhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila, Roxbury, will have its annual queen's luncheon at the Statler.

Students to Honor Jackson Birthday

By BERT FORD

Capturing the imagination and interest of youth in public and parochial schools throughout the city, the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," has response even from pupils in elementary schools, pupils still too young to be eligible in the contest.

This interest will be demonstrated Friday morning at the Andrew Jackson School in Armington st., Allston, only school in the city named for the great general and statesman who returned from the wars to win his nation's highest honor.

Pupils in this school will observe with special exercises the 179th anniversary of the birth of "Old Hickory." Many of these pupils have brothers and sisters of high school or college age who have already entered the contest.

Under direction of sub-master John P. Shea, and under supervision of teachers in all elementary grades, the pupils will present a series of tableaux depicting dramatic episodes in Andrew Jackson's life. These exercises will take place in the school assembly hall, and parents are invited to attend.

Other schools throughout the city will also observe the birthday of Andrew Jackson, the young pupils who will be future competitors in other contests demonstrating their interest in the history of one of America's greatest men.

In many high schools next Friday, intra-mural contests will be held. Names of the winners of these contests must be in the hands of the Contest Editor by April 3, a week before the Boston finals on April 10 in Faneuil Hall.

With students in 44 public and parochial high schools competing, some of the schools have already announced the names of their individual winners. Boston this year is host city to students from 12 other major cities throughout the country, with eastern zone finals to be held April 24 and national finals May 2, both in Boston Latin School.

Awards to both high school and college groups total $25,000 in Victory Bonds. Local prizes are: first, $250; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, $50; fifth, $25, all in Victory Bonds. An additional $50 will be awarded every contestant reaching zone finals.

Guy Named Joe Still Benefactor

LOS ANGELES, March 13 (AP)—The many gifts from all over the nation for 7-year-old Margaret Eads were sent in vain. Margaret died yesterday.

Last Christmas Eve she was struck by an auto in front of Joe Passalacqua's cafe. A piece of auto door handle pierced her brain. Passalacqua, knowing the circumstances of Margaret's widowed mother, Mrs. Hazel Eads, offered to pay medical expenses up to $10,000.

A brain specialist accepted the case without fee. Joe and other persons contributed for rent, grocery and hospital bills.

Mrs. Eads received an eviction notice almost at the hour of her child's death. Passalacqua immediately started a fund to buy a home for her and her two small sons.

Andrew Jackson, in a 12-day expedition, routed the Creek Indians at Enotochope, during the War of 1812. By breaking the power of the Creeks forever, Jackson swung the tide of battle, since the American militia was thus enabled to concentrate on the British forces.

The Creeks were forced to cede to the United States government almost the whole of the territory of the present State of Alabama.

Wellesley Goes Over Top In Red Cross Fund Drive

Wellesley followed Sherborn today in announcing it has reached its quota in the 1946 Red Cross Fund campaign, leaving Boston and 37 surrounding communities still driving toward their quotas before the campaign closes March 26.

Sherborn raised 107 per cent of its quota during the first week of the fund drive, but the amount raised in Wellesley will not be many units and some other communities until tomorrow when an audited report will be made during the Dutch treat report luncheon at the City Club.

The drive is now at the halfway mark, and it is expected communities will be able to announce their quotas have been met during the luncheon tomorrow.

Chairman Francis W. Hatch urged solicitors today to turn in reports in time for them to be incorporated in the audited report tomorrow. He appeared optimistic that the report would show satisfactory progress toward meeting the Greater Boston quota of $1,901,150.

Meanwhile, the clubmobile "Rocky Mountain" with its crew of three girls was preparing to pull out of Boston Common and start a swing through outlying communities.

Its tour will continue through Saturday, and routes and times will be announced later.

Strike Kills Off Big Truck Firm

Fifty Greater Boston employees of the Adley Express Co. today awaited the outcome of a conference called in New Haven after Mayor William C. Celestano of that city appealed to the owners of the firm to reconsider a decision to liquidate the business because of labor trouble.

The Boston terminal of the concern, in Landsdowne st., Cambridge, ceased operations last Thursday. Since then 20 trucks and 50 employees have been idle.

According to the Associated Press, Daniel and Michael L. Adley, owners, informed the New Haven mayor they intended to close permanently "because they were tired of spending most of their time as labor relations men instead of truckers."

Alfred DeFalco, personnel manager, said the firm's operations were suspended after 40 AFL maintenance men went on strike for a wage increase.

LET'S STOP FEEDING INFLATION

You know what happens...

When you continue to spend more than you make and...

Keep on borrowing to make up the difference!

You know too, that a big chunk of every dollar you earn and every dollar you spend goes to pay the cost of government.

That's why it's important for you to take a good look at the way the government spends your dollars.

Government should begin now to live within its means

During the war government necessarily spent huge sums of money. Yet, with the war over, the government plans to spend four times as much in the coming year as it spent in the highest pre-war year.

Most thoughtful people believe that government expenditures are now far greater than they need be.

They believe that government, like a family, should live within its means... that it should not spend more than it takes in... that it should not keep on going deeper into debt.

Yet that is exactly what's happening today. Our government is spending billions more than it takes in. And it continues to borrow to make up the difference.

This is the kind of money-handling that causes inflation.

Economy in government means money in your pocket

If the American people—through Congress—will reduce government spending and take steps to encourage production, inflation will be stopped... and this is the only way it can be stopped.

Write your representatives in Congress today.

Urge them to cut the cost of government, eliminating all waste... all unnecessary services... and postponing all expenditures that can be put off until our war bills have been paid.

Urge them to make the government start living within its means... at a level that you and your neighbors can afford to pay.

You'll see the results soon in the cost of everything that you buy... food, clothing and everything else. And you'll be doing your country a real service.

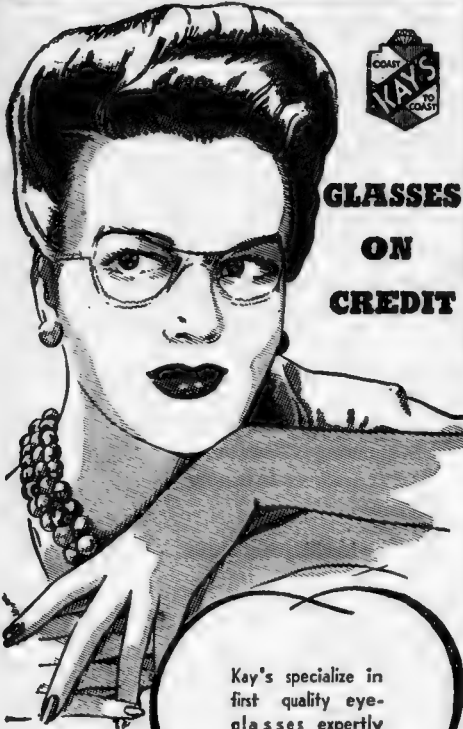

YOUR DOLLARS... a postcard to the National Association of Manufacturers
14 West 49th Street, New York 20, N. Y.; will bring your copy of this informative booklet on government spending—a subject which is all-important to you.

British Hit A-Bomb Tests on Animals

By DORIS DUKE

Special to the Boston American

LONDON, March 13—There is a rising tide of protests from British animal lovers today over the proposed use of goats, sheep and pigs for experimental purposes in the forthcoming atomic bomb tests in the Pacific.

The American embassy in London is being swamped with written protests from individuals and animal welfare societies. More than 500 letters already have been received, with irate animal lovers describing the proposed plan as "diabolical."

This correspondent was permitted to read some of these letters, which are being forwarded to the State Dept.

One housewife, Mrs. Florence Estill of Bradford, Yorkshire, wrote:

"If you have a grain of self-respect, stop this horrible slaughter of poor defenseless animals before it is too late."

"If scientists really believe it will answer some useful purpose, let them take the places of these poor victims. If they are too cowardly to come forward voluntarily, let them cast lots."

Though dispatches from the United States did not mention felines as likely to be included in the tests, an official of the Cat's Protection League wrote: "I wish to place on record a strong protest against the use of any animal in the forthcoming atomic bomb explosion tests."

"It is beyond comprehension that those of God's creatures, whose only crime against humanity seems to be that they are considered suitable subjects for any form of experiment, should so persistently be victimized."

The Ada Cole Memorial Stables wrote:

"The whole idea is diabolical

FAIR PLAY OUR POLICY ON NEW CAR DELIVERIES!

IN COOPERATION with the Ford Motor Company, we are making every effort to give earliest possible delivery of new cars to our patrons, according to the fairest method we have been able to devise. • • During the current shortage, when there are not enough new cars for all who want them, we are filling orders for new cars on the basis of first come first served. There are two important exceptions to this rule:

1. We are definitely reserving a substantial percentage of our cars to supply those who have served in the armed forces. This we feel is simple justice and conforms with public interest and fair play.

2. If emergency need for a new car is a factor, as in the case of doctors and nurses, we will, in the public interest determine priority according to the now abolished but publicly accepted OPA priority lists.

• • We believe these delivery policies are in your interest. We will use every care to see that the procedure works fairly and that exceptions to the rule of first orders delivered first are made only in genuinely deserving cases.

• • Both in the matter of increasing production and speeding delivery, the Ford Motor Company and we ourselves are making every effort to get your new car in your hands promptly and fairly. We want to assure you that the '46 Ford is out in front in everything and is well worth waiting for.

THE PRIME OF LIFE CAN BE PROLONGED

Dr. Henry G. Sherman Says:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health, and the longer measure of what we may call the prime of life." The period between maturity and old age is the period when the body is most susceptible to the effects of calcium deficiency. SUFFICIENT CALCIUM, CALCIUM, CALCIUM, WICKARD, former U. S. Secretary of Agriculture. Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. Calcium deficiency is a form of malnutrition that may be the cause of acidity, nervousness, fatigue, weak heart muscles and other effects which hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

AM I NERVOUS?

Sleeplessness with ragged, jagged nerves may be due to a calcium deficiency which upsets the parathyroid glands causing intense sensitivity of the whole nervous system.

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A calcium starved body tires easily. A calcium deficiency may cause an upset nerve system, less strength, energy and vitality. No person can be normal without a sufficient supply of calcium.

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old at 40, evidences of early aging, perhaps at 30 or 40, may be due to calcium deficiency. Calcium is needed in adequate amount, in the repair and growth of body organs, to preserve cells. If your health is impaired, if you are run down, tired, old at 40 and nervous because you do not get enough Calcium or Phosphorus or Vitamin D or Vitamin B1 add KAL to your diet. See how much better you feel after KAL, help to build up, then maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance and help overcome the ill effects of a deficiency of the vital elements KAL so richly supplied.

New Canada Spy Charges for 2

OTTAWA, March 13 (AP)—Two of the four persons accused of participating in the Russian-sponsored spy ring in Canada were arraigned in court again today to hear additional charges against them. They were Mrs. Emma Woikin, cipher clerk in the department of external affairs, and Miss Kathleen Mary Willsher, 40, assistant registrar at the office of the United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada.

The new charges against Mrs. Woikin bring her total to six. Two additional charges were made against Miss Willsher.

Yeast Urged To Enrich Foods

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter
ATLANTIC CITY, March 13 (AP)—One way for American housewives to make up for the 40 per cent cut in wheat and 20 in fats for the starving peoples overseas, is to add yeast to home-cooked dishes.

Yeasts are one of the finest sources of protein, according to Barnett Sure, U. of Arkansas agricultural chemist, yeasts can be used readily to enrich corn bread, rice, meat dishes, soups, especially thick soups and gravies, ketchup, chili, tomato juice, peanut butter, chocolate milk, malted milk, also in bread, muffins and clam chowder. And in cookies, cakes, doughnuts, stews and cheese dishes. The yeasts were said not to change flavors of the dishes.

Prof. Sure proposed a further addition to American diets of more soy beans or soy bean flour.

Q—I'm an ex-WAC and interested in obtaining information regarding a job overseas in a civilian capacity. Where might I apply for details? V. H. B., South Boston.

A—Would suggest you contact Civilian Procurement Officer, First Service Command Hq., 808 Commonwealth ave.

Q—The parents of a boy killed in action are receiving a pension, due to fact father was ill and unable to work. He now feels as though he could return to work. Will the pension be discontinued M. D., East Boston.

A—It will depend upon the amount of income which the parent will receive. It would be best to discuss matter first with a contact officer of the Veterans Bureau, 17 Court st., Boston.

Q—My son is a member of the Marine Corps and has served in that branch for the past 31 months. He is now stationed in Japan, where he has been for the past 7 months. Could you tell me what are the chances of his being discharged, if he has a total of 30 points? F. W. O., Haverhill.

A—Points required for discharge in Marine Corps currently is 45. On April 1, points will be lowered to 40. Further reduction expected, in meantime your son will be accumulating points so time should not be too far away before being released.

Q—Is an ex-soldier who served a full enlistment in the U. S. Army before World War II, honorably discharged, entitled to veterans preference under Mass. Civil Service laws. R. F., Lawrence.

A—He is not entitled to any preference. Only in time of war.

That man is here again!
(with a crooked eye on your war bonds)

Every year the American people are robbed of millions of hard-earned dollars through crooked "investment" schemes. Fraudulent mining and oil stock, non-existent orange groves in Florida or California, imaginary silver fox farms are only a few of the lures which have made swindlers rich and honest Americans poor. There are thousands of such schemes and many are deceptively clever.

Right now a horde of bunco men and "gyp" artists are extra busy persuading gullible citizens to cash their war bonds and "reinvest" the money in get-rich-quick deals.

Beware of any scheme which offers to get you a very much higher return for your money than you could get through reputable investment channels. Don't turn your bonds into cash except for a real emergency. Leave those dollars in the United States Treasury, where they'll work for your country and earn good interest for you.

Play safe! Build your financial future on the three dependable foundations of war bonds, a good life insurance program, and a savings account with regular deposits in your Mutual Savings Bank.

SALEM'S GOOD EXAMPLE

MORE THAN 500 veterans of the late war have filed applications for 240 house lots in Salem.

In gratitude to the lads who fought the battles of Europe and Asia, the municipal administration is offering these lots for one dollar each.

Elsewhere, in a number of States, service men are being similarly assisted.

With their almost-free land they will be able to take full advantage of their G. I. home loans and use all the money they know for construction, rather than for inflated land.

All cities and towns everywhere, should follow Salem's excellent example.

States, and even the Federal Government, ought to assist the cities and towns in this most commendable effort.

The former service men do not wish to get the rest of their lives in the registered atmosphere of government housing compartments.

They are weary of rules, regulations and restrictions.

They want homes of their own in the city and suburban areas.

It is the duty of every municipality to let them to get them.

LET'S GET BUSY

THERE ARE better airfields in the wilds of New Guinea than in the supposedly civilized Commonwealth of Massachusetts. That is what Gen. George C. Kenney of Bunker, chief of the Army Strategic Air Force, recently told the Legislature.

With even more truth, the General might have added:

"And there are finer parking facilities in the North Pole than in metropolitan Boston."

The Legislature should, therefore, hasten to the urgently needed garage under Boston Common.

Its construction ought to begin this Spring.

The most reliable surveys show that prosperity and jobs exceeding $55,000,000 will be lost in the next 10 months if the necessary project is delayed that long.

We have always supported aviation powerfully.

We have never failed to argue for improvements, particularly for those at Logan International Flying Field.

But we do not propose to forget the motorists in Boston and elsewhere.

For each person who travels by air there are NINE HUNDRED persons who ride in automobiles.

They deserve and demand some consideration.

Let us be fair and give it to them now by building the garage which has the endorsement of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the leaders of both political parties and the overwhelming majority of the people.

DON'T MISS IT

NEXT MONDAY the seventy-fifth annual New England Spring Flower Show will open its doors and display its loveliness at Mechanics Building, Boston.

After the long winter, with its ice, snow and biting winds, it is hard to imagine anything more cheerful or welcome.

Overcoats seem strangely heavy and superfluous, and eyes move hopefully in the direction of bathing suits and garden tools.

This year's show, the Massachusetts Horticultural Society's diamond jubilee event, will try to surpass all the achievements of its predecessors.

And, as befits a nation returned to peace, one of the principal displays will be a memorial garden for veterans of the late war.

In it, roses, carnations, lilies, orchids, azaleas, amaryllis, begonias, cinerarias, cyclamens, acacias, comelias, tulips, primroses—in fact, all the floral wonders of our wonderful age, will vie in splendor and admiration.

A NUMBER of subscribers, demanding that carefully wrapped stogies be forwarded them by special delivery air mail, question the statement made here that George Washington was born under the sign of Pisces. They say our first President was not born on Feb. 22, but on Feb. 11 which brings him under the sign of Aquarius. It is true Washington was born Feb. 11, according to the old style calendar, but nevertheless the stargazers have him listed as being born under Pisces. Until this action of the astrologers has been proven erroneous, no stogies will be paid by this department.

SAYS HE: "Women often ask for a man's angle on something which concerns the female sex," writes a New Yorker. "But when given a frank opinion the ladies can't take it. Instead of accepting the requested criticism in the spirit in which it is given, the women become irritated and change the subject, usually by making some nasty cracks about men in general. Be that as it may, I would like to say that in my opinion the current feminine styles as to figure are making a lot of women look like hillbillies. Ninety-nine per cent of the models for today's styles are flat chested women with hat pin silhouette figures. This certainly is not the type of woman that appeals to most men. The average fellow doesn't want a girl like those who were in Billy Watson's Beef Trust, nor does he specially care for the corn-fed type of beauty featured by Lillian Russell. All he asks is for an old-fashioned girl like Jean Harlow, Nita Naldi or Clara Bow."

PASSING BY: George "Twinktoes" Selkirk, erstwhile major league outfielder. If anybody asks you took "Babe" Ruth's place in the Yankee outfield when the Sultan of Swat retired, Selkirk is the man. Who followed Hans Wagner as shortstop for Pittsburgh when the Flying Dutchman quit? Who took Ty Cobb's place in the Detroit outfield? If you can't answer these questions as quick as a flash and a half, your sports history is weak and needs brushing up

SIDELIGHTS: Jose Maria Maldonado of New York City has seen the film "A Song to Remember" 129 times... Dr. George H. Hocking of Baltimore, who is 90, is still in active medical practice... Phil Ackerman of Plainfield, N. J., was issued a razor when he enlisted in the Army in World War I in 1917. Phil still has that razor and uses it for his daily shave.

NOT IRISH: "I note one of your clients in Boston has included the name of Capt. Colin F. Kelly in the list of American war heroes of Irish descent," writes a New Yorker. "The assumption that all people named Kelly are of Irish descent is erroneous, as any well-informed person can tell you. Capt. Colin F. Kelly was of Scotch descent. His ancestors settled in North Carolina before the Revolutionary War, having gone there from Scotland."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What racehorse has the most curious name? A—How about Droopsnoop, now racing in the west? Q—In what year was the song "In the Baggage Coach Ahead" introduced? A—That delectable ditty was introduced in the so-called "Gay Nineties." Don't know the exact year.

SKUNK: Now more than ever in the country's history is the smooth operation of offices, shops, hotels and homes impeded by employees staying away from work without giving employers notice of such intention. An employee who has no more sense of responsibility than to do a thing like that is just as much of a skunk as an employer who overworks his help or discharges them without notice.

OUT WEST: Am informed a Los Angeles home manager, in her desperation to get some kind of domestic help for a large house, hired a Japanese American girl as a cook at a salary of $15 a month, and then found out the woman didn't even know how to light a gas stove.

ASIDES: Have heard of a woman who was given a judgment of $33,000 in a suit against an ex-husband. Of this $33,000, her lawyers took $40,000. Ever read a book by Hamlin Garland titled "The Eagle's Heart"? That was one of my lawless boys of boyhood but now I can't seem to find a copy of it anywhere or meet anyone who has read it.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

RANDOLPH PAUL of New York was general counsel of the Treasury Department for some time under the Roosevelt government. He sat at Elliott Roosevelt's elbow to guide him through the Treasury's inquiry into the Hartford loan case.

Westbrook Pegler

Elliott's original statement, denouncing as a deliberate, infamous lie any statement that the late President Roosevelt ever "promoted or assisted" his personal business affairs, was issued from Paul's law office in Washington, so it is fair to assume that Paul wrote the document for his client and in defense of the historic reputation of his late chief.

Mr. Paul is a New Dealer who surely would not resent being described as an admirer and friend of the late President.

The issue of the lie has been disposed of by Elliott's own testimony and that of Jesse Jones and Elliott's former wife.

You may be of one mind or another on the question whether the President intended to promote the Hartford loan in the first place when Hartford consulted him on the phone.

But unless you throw out the testimony of Elliott, himself, of Jones and of the former Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt you are bound to suspect that the President did ask Jones to pick up the loans for trifling amounts and recapture the collateral as well.

You may also suspect that, after watching the progress of the negotiations and receiving the stock at the White House he, personally, sent it to Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt to defray Elliott's impending obligations in alimony and provide for the maintenance of the children of that marriage.

WAIVING THE MATTER of an apology from Mr. Paul upon this proof that it was not a deliberate, infamous lie to implicate President Roosevelt in this shady deal but an important, historic disclosure bearing on the character and honor of one of the most powerful men in world history, I now return to the closing words of the statement from his office. This sentence asked that "no further attempt be made to smear a man who can't talk back."

Mr. Paul is not only a lawyer of considerable ability, as his success indicates, but an expert in tax matters. He is as well qualified as anyone else to "talk back" for the late President and remove the stain from his official and personal honor.

THE FACT has never before been brought out that the President saw to it that after Jones had recaptured the collateral it was passed directly to Mrs. Ruth Roosevelt. Already he had discounted for $4500, provided by Jones, debts of $240,000 to John Hartford and David Baird. Then he wanted the collateral back and got it back, through Jones, by representations that it was more or less worthless.

Elliott himself has said that the company concerned began to show a profit in the same year in which it was represented as "worthless." He also said that he mentioned the stock certificates several times at the White House, where they were being held by Miss Grace Tully, one of the President's secretaries, but that through "some mistake or mixup" was unable to learn just who had them.

Why was he interested in worthless stock? But it was a simple matter for the President to put his hands on the certification when he decided to send them to Mrs. Ruth Roosevelt in settlement of his son's future financial obligations to her and their children.

THE PRESIDENT might have known that if he had turned the collateral over to Elliott, and Elliott, in turn, had transferred it to his wife in the divorce settlement, at least half of it would have been a fund of official interest to the Treasury.

They were residents of a community-property state, Texas, so Elliott's wife was entitled to half of his wealth. His own half, however, which he then might have used in the settlement, would have been new wealth in his hands.

It was the President's apparent forethought and intention to manipulate the deal so that there could be no possibility that his son would have to pay any tax on any part of the new value of the collateral.

This is no issue of personal or political feeling. This is an issue for history.

Operator, do you know anything about a package I left in here this morning?

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 13—I'm not surprised that Sol Lesser believes "The Red House" is going to be his best picture. He's got Charles Laughton to co-star with Lon McAllister, and if that isn't enough, he's borrowed Delmer Daves from Warners to direct. The story is an interesting one in that Charlie plays a paralytic ridden by fears and superstitions. Lon comes into the scene and changes everything by overcoming fear. Now that's all I know about the story, but I know it must be good or my friend Laughton would never consent to play a paralytic. Lately, roles of this type seem to be clicking. Take "The Spiral Staircase" for instance; that featured a mute girl.

Charles Laughton

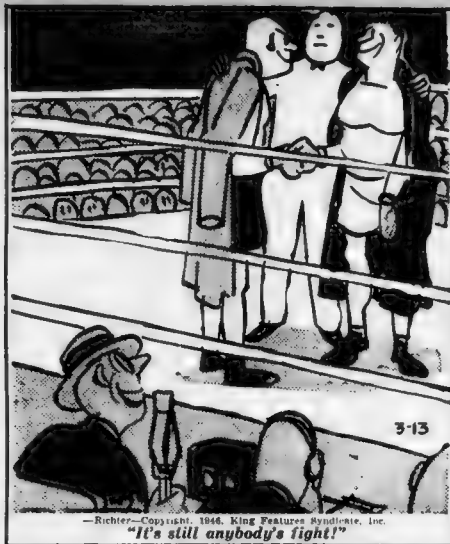

STIRLING HAYDEN got into town from Reno Monday and made a bee line for Paramount. Henry Ginsberg had four stories all laid out, which Stirling will read and then give his decision immediately. For a guy who never wanted to see the movies again, he's certainly eager to come back. But being in the service as long as he was and going through the hardships, probably gave him a different outlook on life. It did most of our boys who went overseas. Then, too, Madeleine Carroll may have influenced him in his former decision not to face the cameras.

I HEARD from Mexico that Virginia Bruce and Dick Arlen have been waiting six weeks to make the picture that took them to Mexico City. One report is the backers who were to furnish the capital have not been forthcoming with the necessary pesos; another is the battle on with the unions is responsible. Whatever it is, it seems more than likely if the movie doesn't get going, Virginia and Dick will soon be returning to Hollywood.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS tells me they have been deluged with letters from frantic members who fear any picture based on their organization might violate their privacy and reveal identities. "It's true," the foundation tells me, "that our co-operation was requested for such a film and it will be given, but only with the stipulation that the final script be approved by the board of trustees, and that it will in no way distort the facts nor cite actual case histories." Kay Brown, a non-member, is in charge of the rights and doing it gratis. The picture will not be made by Jeffrey Bernerd, as was published elsewhere.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Frances Robinson should really make up her mind. Six months ago we received a telegram she and Bob Condon, brother of Richard Condon for whom she was working, were being married the next day. Then, without any explanation, the marriage was called off. A few days ago she telephoned me to say she and Phillip Charlot had set May 3 as their wedding date. "It's all planned," she said. I wrote the story and before it was published her doctor telephoned that she was having hysterics and the marriage was off. Her hysterics haven't kept Frances from going to luncheons and dinners and being much in evidence.

JUNE HAVOC flies in Thursday, straight from the hospital where she's had an operation on her neck. Although there are no picture commitments waiting for her, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if June made a deal with MGM. One of her best friends is Van Johnson. She and Gene Kelly and Van all got their first big break together in "Pal Joey," and they have been great friends ever since. The two boys have prospered at MGM and naturally they would like to see June there, too. When she was in the hospital and Van was in New York, he went to see her, bringing gardenias, a quart of perfume and candy. Gypsy Rose Lee will come out later bringing June's little pal, who is in school.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Francis Aktock, Jack Whitney's right hand man, has been ordered to Arizona for his health; Dorothy Peterson's ex-husband, Tom Kilpatrick, has arrived here with his bride, Francesca Barloran. She is an American and not a South American, as formerly reported; the Richard Berlins flew in from New York tonight, making marvelous time; I've never seen anyone as cute as Jimmy Stewart when he sits at the piano and sings and accompanies himself. We were all at a party Sunday and Jimmy sang some after song of his own composition. He was with Rita Hayworth who looked so gorgeous in a green sports dress. Jimmie and Rita had been playing tennis all afternoon. The night before, Jimmy brought her to a party given in honor of the Ben Fairbushes, the steel mogul, and the Bob Woodruffs, the Coca Cola king. Ann Sheridan, who has gotten very thin, was with Steve Hannagan. Mrs. Fairless' daughter married Fairless' son by a former marriage. She's a very handsome woman and I sat next her at dinner. Ingrid Bergman's Dr. Peter Lindstrom is very attractive. I had a talk with him Sunday and even if I don't know much about medicine I can talk a good game having lived with an M. D. for 17 years.

MRS. ALBERT LASKER came with Frances Gadowyn to Irene Selznick's Sunday night. Irene had just a few people in, following a tennis game. She's such a lovely hostess. It was very funny to see everyone make a bee line for the radio to hear Jack Benny's show. Jack and Mary Livingston and Ray Milland were there. Ray did two shows Sunday, mine and Jack's. Sonja Henie came in late and as I left I saw her sitting talking to Van Johnson. I took Harold Kerns to Wynne Recamora's cocktail party and then later to Irene Selznick's. Wynne had a terrific party for Marjorie Lawrence. Greer Garson talked to Marjorie for a long time. Dorothy Lamour, a fashion plate if I ever saw one, was fitting about. It was really a good party but I've got to take time out and rest after all this week-end whirl. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

NEW YORK, March 13—Sarah Churchill is wearing an engaging pattern from Frank Clark of the steamship millions. Formal announcement of the betrothal is expected momentarily... George Burns and Gracie Allen will adopt a third bambino...

Emil Boreo is very ill. Heart trouble... A radio comic bottle-tossing has his sponsor studying replacement... Zorina and Goddard Lieberman will star in a quiet wedding any day now, their intimates predict... Greenwich residents' next step will be to ask for federal action to prevent the UNO from invading the area... Charles Chaplin is ready to quit the film business. His share of United Artists is valued at $4,000,000... Ray Milland is busy paying off his friends. He gave odds that he wouldn't win the Academy Award... Pat Clarke, the starlet, is recuperating after a serious operation at the Park East Hospital... One of Mexico's national floras is burning the mailman's pack with mash notes to Carmen Miranda.

ARE THE JOEL PRESSMANS (Claudette Colbert) keeping a happy secret? Their friends are full of nice rumors... As if this will be a big season for baseball. Half a dozen major league stars have hired Broadway press agents to ballyhoo them... Billy Gilbert will undergo plastic surgery on his profile as a result of his recent fall... Maxie Rosenbloom and Max Baer are using their coming engagement at the new 18 Club as a test to determine their New York drawing power. If the customers come in droves the boys may open a place of their own... Peggy Wood is slated after her overseas gallivanting and reading playscripts again... The Fred Fuld (Geraldine Forte) have Reno in the bean-o after a week of wedded bliss.

A FAMOUS FEMME vocalist is visiting a psychiatrist for the oddest reason: she sees peanuts running up and down her arms... Gail Patrick's new heart today is in Gotham this week. Her RKO contract didn't jell... Yvonne DeCarlo's glamorous mother, Marie, and Al Odell, the cowboy star, are a romance item... Some of the local references in the script "State of the Union" will be revived for London audiences... The bass player at the Little Casino is named Brock Pemberton. No relation to the producer, however... Shep Fields' brother Freddie is mooning over starlet Edith Fellows... Ah, for the life of a cover girl! Fifty of the town's top models leave this month for highly paid "location" jobs in Rio, Arizona and Mexico!

ANN CORIO, the stripper, makes more money raising celery and strawberries, of all things, than she does displaying her torso at the LaM Quarter. Her California ranch is a mint... The Martin Manulises are hulaing a baby girl. (She's Katherine Bard, actress daughter of the former Sec'y of the Navy)... Former champ Jim Jeffries suffered a heart attack last week. He's been warned by doctors not to rehash oldtime boxing bouts; it makes him too excited... A Boston Cabot-Susan—is singing at New York's Village Barn... Something new for the kids; a toy locomotive that belches smoke... Louis Prima's vocalist, Lily Ann Arrol, is recovering from a pneumonia attack... The stock canceled its visit to the Peter Lorres... President Truman is said to have promised Labor Secretary Schwelbensch the first vacant spot on the Supreme Court bench.

JOAN LESLIE'S new honey is Navy Lt. Tex Cunningham. "But their Saturday night date at the Embassy was chaperoned by Joan's mama... Mrs. Sonny Tufts plans an appeal on that court decision awarding $30,000 in damages to songstress Jean Vickers, who was injured in Mrs. T's car back in 1940 when Sonny was a cafe singer... Mary Jean Copeland and Tony Ross of "The Glass Menagerie" adore each other.

George Holland Boston After Dark

IT IS PROVING as difficult to get out of Florida this month as it was hard to get in from Christmas through Feb. 1... Hundreds of Eastern businessmen, including a sizable quota from Boston, are stalled in the glorious

March 25... Fellows produced "The Spanish Main."

NEWSPAPERMEN from all parts of the country are praising the considerate care given both themselves and their precious "copy" by a young man named Cornelle, who is in charge of the New York Times' Western Union room... Most stories are filed from the Times' wire room, and the service is wonderful. Operators who are assigned to handle a story will travel to the newspaper's hotel room, check the copy for mistakes with the author and then carry it back to the office and dispatch it.

WHENEVER YOU SEE a magazine or newspaper picture of "celebrities" holding hands and swapping smiles at the Stork Club, look for a card of matches with the Stork's insignia on the tablecloth... These cards are in black and stand out against the white backgrounds. Mr. Billingsley doesn't miss a publicity bet, but we were unable to learn whether it is mandatory for camera-men to include the matches in all photos made at the Stork... Eddie Condon's jazz concert did twice as much business as his first, and another—the third of a series—is being arranged for Symphony Hall for the Fall... Condon got five times the newspaper attention this time... Excluding New York and Miami, tremendous salaries for night club entertainers such as those paid last season probably will not prevail next season—or any other... In the direct wake of this forecast, we now make known the report that the Ritz Brothers have been booked for the Bradford Roof, and if Harry, Al and Jimmy Ritz are not getting the highest salaries ever paid a night club act in Boston, then we do not know the Ritz Brothers.

THE RITZ BOYS are so "hot" right now, thanks to a marvellous engagement in a Miami Beach joint (whose proprietor admits the Ritzes "saved his life"), they can get what they ask in New York... Milton Berle's salary for his first week at Nicky Blair's Carnival exceeded $12,000... This will be the norm from which big salaries will be computed in New York henceforth... If the Ritz trio is asking at least $9000 (against a percentage) for their rumored Bradford booking, we should not be surprised... In 1936, the Ritz Brothers played the Playfair here for $750, and that was their top salary to that time.

ROBERT (BOB) FELLOWS, the movie producer, who made many friends in Boston when RKO staged a junket in behalf of the ballooning of "The Iron Major," leaves the RKO lot March 24... But Robert will not get as much as a day's vacation... He will begin work under a new contract to produce pictures at Paramount,

WASHINGTON, March 13—Senate Majority Leader

Alben W. Barkley, who is a very moral and upright citizen, was discussing the evils of strong drink at an informal luncheon in the office of Secretary of the Senate Leslie Biffle the other day. I say in "informal" luncheon because it was a weird and varied assemblage. Gathered at the festered board—I wonder if that's the right word?—was the strangest aggregation the hallowed sanctum has probably ever seen.

There was, Sen. John H. Bankhead, who considers it downright illegal for Alabama to have anything but Bankheads in Congress, and next to him, Mr. Harry Link, the music publisher. As far as I could gather from the choppy conversation, Mr. Link's mission in Washington was to induce Barne, the old maestro, to write the music and lyrics for an ax murder. Barne, looking practically naked without his fiddle, was there, too, as was Nick Kenny, the New York radio columnist. The latter prefers to be known as a poet, although he bears little resemblance to Archibald MacLeish, beyond a strange light in his eyes which probably comes from blinking at a cross-eyed lumbic pentamer.

Senator Joseph C. Mahoney

of Wyoming looked in the door, but, on seeing the assemblage, decided he had urgent business elsewhere, maybe at the zoo.

It was too bad he didn't remain a moment longer because he would have heard an entrancing recital by Mr. Arthur (Dutch) Bergman, the football wizard, of how his wife, Florence, had put him on the spot with most Rev. James Hugh Ryan, archbishop of Omaha.

THE LUNCHEON, I understand, was given in honor of Post Kenny, in return for a promise that he will not visit Washington very often. There was no other reasonable explanation. The conversation, naturally, was on a very high plane.

Mr. Link, with a truculent look about the room, said that everybody in the country is a songwriter at heart and that personally he is damned weary of it.

Mr. Knox (Jim) Julian, the old coach, fisherman of Sugar Loaf Key, Fla., flared up and said he had never written a song in his life and defied anyone to prove different. Mr. Link apologized.

The music publisher said he has to be on the alert everywhere he goes to dodge embryo songwriters. Mr. Biffle, with a completely dead pan, said he was very glad he had Mr. Link in a locked room because, just by pure coincidence, he had written a song. As a look of sheer horror overspread Mr. Link's kisser, Mr. Biffle continued:

"I figure it should sell better than 50 million copies. I have decided to call it 'The Star-Spangled Banner.'"

By George Dixon

MR. BERGMAN recalled he had been football coach at Catholic University here when Archbishop Ryan, then bishop, was rector. There were to be boxing bouts at the college one night and Mr. Bergman informed his missus—who is of another faith—that she was to sit in a box with Bishop Ryan. "Remember," Mr. Bergman counseled the beautiful Florence, "you must address him as 'Your Excellency.' Got that?—'Your Excellency!'"

Mrs. Bergman repeated "Your Excellency" a few times and announced she had it letter perfect.

All but the ring was darkened when she entered the gym. Mrs. Bergman tried to pick her way carefully through the gloom but stumbled over the bishop's feet. She fell smack into his lap, tried to extricate herself, then cried in a voice that could be heard 20 rows away:

"Pardon me—Your Majesty!"

AT PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S press conference the other day a meek-voiced journalistic newcomer in a back row kept calling "Mr. President?" "Mr. President?" but was drowned out each time by more strident-toned questioners. Finally the President got up and said:

"There's a gentleman in the rear who has been trying to ask a question. Let's give him a chance. Now, what is the question?"

"Thank you, Mr. President," said the meek one. "But all I wanted to ask was: 'What was the last question?'"

First Hub Showing At Loew's Tomorrow

Much sword play and hard riding by Robin Hood's trusty followers enliven "The Bandit of Sherwood Forest," the Technicolor film version of Paul A. Castleton's novel, "Son of Robin Hood," which will have its initial Hub showings tomorrow on Loew's twin screens.

Cornelia Wilde is starred in the lavish Columbia production which recounts the thrilling rescue of the young King Henry III of England after being imprisoned by the villainous regent.

The supporting cast is headed by Anita Louise, Jill Esmond, Edgar Buchanan and Henry Daniell. The screen play was written by Wilfred H. Pottit and Melvin Levy, George Sherman and Henry Levin directed.

SEAT SALE OPENS
The seat sale for Victor Payne-Jennings' production of "The Song of Bernadette," dramatized from Franz Werfel's successful novel by Jean and Walter Kerr, begins tomorrow at the Wilbur box office, preparatory to the show's debut Monday night. Elizabeth Ross, stage newcomer, will play the title role.

Nothing to Chew
SALT LAKE CITY, March 13 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff German Dean spent three hours tracking down the stolen lunch box of Andrew Bennion of Murray, Utah, after an urgent plea from Bennion it contained his false teeth.
The box—and teeth—were finally found in possession of a 15-year-old boy. Dean said Bennion has his teeth back. The lunch was unrecoverable.

Numerous Ways to Use Leftover Bread Supply

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

BBREAD IS MORE PRECIOUS than ever these days and American homemakers are urged to conserve every crumb of it in their homes. Turning back the pages of cookbooks will recall innumerable ways to use leftover bread—as French toast, as croutons for soups, in meat loaves and croquettes, as crumb toppings for casseroles and in several popular desserts.

BREAD PUDDING

4 slices bread, buttered
3 cups milk 4 eggs
¼ cup sugar ½ tsp. salt
¼ cup any dessert wine
½ tsp. vanilla

Arrange bread in bottom of buttered baking dish. Scald the milk. Beat eggs. Add sugar and salt. Add milk to egg mixture gradually. Then add the wine and the vanilla. Pour custard over bread and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for about 40 minutes. Cool. If desired, top with a meringue made as follows: Beat 2 egg whites with ¼ tsp. salt until they begin to stiffen. Then add ¼ cup sugar gradually, beating all the while. Beat until mixture stands in peaks. Spread on pudding and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for about 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve with wine sauce.

Any of the dessert wines—muscatel, tokay, angelica or port—are suggested for use in these recipes. These wines boast a high natural grape sugar content so that when the sauce is made from equal parts of dessert wine and syrup left from canned fruit, only three or four tablespoons of sugar are needed to make a sauce of pleasing sweetness. The fruit syrup and the wine blend—as fruit and wine flavors always do—with the happiest results.

WINE SAUCE

2 tbsps. cornstarch
3 or 4 tbsps. sugar
1 cup fruit syrup (left from canned fruit), peeling from ¼ lemon, cut in strips
1 cup any dessert wine
2 tbsps. lemon juice

Add sugar to cornstarch. Add fruit syrup gradually, stirring until blended. Add lemon peel and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add the wine and lemon juice. Bring to a boil. Chill and serve. Makes 1 pint of sauce.

Another type of bread pudding is known as "brown Betty"—and this is made with various fresh, canned or dried fruits. One of our favorite variations is mincemeat brown Betty—which combines apples and mincemeat. This dessert is especially delicious when served with wine sauce. A measure of wine may also be used in the pudding itself.

MINCEMEAT BROWN BETTY

1 cup mincemeat 4 apples
1-3 cups moist bread crumbs
1-3 cup water ¼ cup sugar
1 ½ tsp. cinnamon
1 ½ tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. grated orange rind
Pare, core and slice apples;

STIFFENED sides give a definite curve to the waistline of this very smart fitted coat of navy wool. The short-sleeved dress of navy and white checked tie silk has a large, soft bow at the neck that looks chic worn outside the coat. Bruno designed this model for Spectator Sports... its wearers will have plenty of spectators gaping at it, we're sure. —R. M.

place half in casserole. Combine bread crumbs, sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle ½ over apples and dot with half the butter. Repeat with remaining apples, crumbs and butter. Sprinkle with orange rind; add water and cover. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 45 minutes. Serve with wine sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Luxurious Hot Oil Shampoo Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

USUALLY THERE is very little the matter with hair that a good hot oil shampoo won't or can't cure. If your hair is dry and lacking in luster... as is very often the case at this treacherous in-between seasonal period... or if you are preparing your hair for a permanent to shine the crown that will soon wear the gorgeous Easter bonnet... there is nothing more gratifying to the scalp than a hot oil shampoo.

If you've had one, you know how luxurious a treatment this is. If you haven't... you've got great joy ahead of you for a reconditioning oil that is like manna from heaven for our locks is a most precious preparation in our beauty book. Especially the one which a famous sister-firm of hair specialists markets... luxurious, yet easy to use and the harbinger of marvelous results for the tresses.

Here's how you do it. First, comb out your hair... to free it of tangles and shake out any loose dust. Rinse with hot water. Warm three or four tablespoons of this wonderful reconditioning oil. Part your hair at intervals of an inch. Apply the oil to the scalp along the length of each part with a bit of absorbent cotton. When you have oiled all the scalp... put some oil in the palms of your hands and rub the ends of your hair between them, strand by strand.

Take a towel and wring it out in very hot water. Wrap this around your head. The steam will soften your dry hair and make the oil spread more quickly. Use several hot towels in this way. Then rinse with warm water... or if you prefer... shampoo with the enticing shampoo also created by this noted hair-saving house.

This is practically a salon treatment... yet one which you can do just as easily at home. We've tried it both ways... with great joy and satisfaction. For I find that this hot oil treatment improves the general appearance of the hair.

For the sake of this wonderful reconditioning hot oil scalp treatment, phone the Beauty Department, Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LUCKY NUMBER—34.

LUCKY COLOR—Dark Blue.

SPRING CLEANING is just as good for the scalp as it is for the house furnishings. And nothing is more gratifying to a nourishment-seeking, reconditioning-needed scalp than a hot oil shampoo... one that is the pride and joy of a noted sister-firm of hair specialists. A little hot oil, a steaming Turkish towel... and your hair gets a spring overhauling that readies it for the spring permanent or the Easter bonnet. Paramount Starlet Barbara Britton values the good of a home shampoo, too, you see.

Etiquette in Arguments

IN THE LAST FEW DAYS my mail has been bristling with discussion-and-argument questions. Here are a few:

"Dear Beeckman:

"To settle an argument, please answer this question: When I address a letter to a married woman whose husband is living, should I address it 'Mrs. John Smith' or 'Mrs. Mary Smith'? I maintain that 'Mrs. John Smith' is proper." A. C.

Answer: You are right... "Mrs. John Smith" is the correct form.

"My husband and I are having an argument about the correct form for our new son's name. He is named after his father, who is (let's say) Edward Peter Brown, Jr. My husband's father is dead. In this case, does my husband automatically become 'Sr.' and my son 'Jr.', or is our son '3rd' or 'D. R.'?"

Answer: Since your husband's father is dead, your husband should drop "Jr." from his name (he is now the "senior," though it is not necessary for him to add this suffix to his name); and your son is Edward Peter Brown, Jr.

"My husband and I are having a discussion as to the correct procedure when ordering a meal in a restaurant. Does the lady give her order to the waiter or to her escort? We have discussed this question with several friends, and all but two agree with my husband that the lady gives her order directly to the waiter. Which of us is correct? H. K."

Answer: You are right... the lady tells her escort what she wants, and he gives both orders to the waiter. If the orders differ, the well-bred host mentions her order first, as he relays the orders to the waiter. "At the dinner table last evening our family had an argument as to what should be done with the knife when it is not in use. My mother reproved my brother and me for resting the blade of the knife on the plate, with the handle on the table. What's wrong about that? A. S."

Answer: The rule is that when you are not using your knife it is laid across the rim of the plate. Never place either the knife or the fork, when you are not using it, so that the handle rests on the table. This is what's wrong with resting the handles on the table: (1) it is unattractive to look at; and (2) this precarious position makes it easier for the knife or fork to be pushed onto the tablecloth, probably leaving food spots.

"I have recently been married, and last evening my husband (whose family is better educated than my family) reproved me for referring to him as 'Mr. Smith,' when I was speaking of him over the telephone to an acquaintance. He says that I made a social error, since a woman should refer to her husband as 'Mr. Smith' only to tradespeople or servants and that to an acquaintance it should be 'my husband.' But I thought that since this woman calls us 'Mr. Smith' and 'Mrs. Smith,' I should refer to him by the name she calls him. Which of us is right? W. D."

Answer: Your husband is right. Here is the rule in a nutshell: (1) to friends you refer to your husband as "Bob" and he refers to you as "Mary"; to acquaintances you refer to him as "my husband" and he refers to you as "my wife"; to tradespeople and servants, "Mr. Smith" and "Mrs. Smith" are the correct forms.

Away Over One Ear

By BETTINA BEDWELL

MANY OF the new millinery styles from the best houses have taken sides in the matter of where they set on a head. The newest hats are made, in a good many cases, to be worn away over one ear, leaving the other side of the head without any hat to cover it.

More moderate models still lean to a single side. This makes quite a change from the prevailing style of hats worn straight.

A sample of this askew movement is the charming toque sketched. Mme. Pauline makes it of navy straw and sets the blue grapes and green leaves that make a halo far over to the right side. There is a flattering blue veil over the face.

Radio Station Bans Jive

HOLLYWOOD, March 13 (AP)—Starting today, jive is on the blacklist at radio station KMPC.

Ted Steele, musical director, banned jive of all types—"Even good jive, if they is any, because our surveys have proved 90 per cent of all listeners prefer their music sweet."

In a memo to studio executives yesterday, Steele charged jive with "contributing in a large way to juvenile delinquency, especially that kind of jive so popular in Hollywood now. It's dirty, or at best sug-gative, and the music itself is degenerate."

Before he became KMPC's musical director Jan. 1, Steele was musical director on NBC in New York.

New Jersey's New Track Really Ultra Modern

Bruins Angling to Meet Red Wings in Playoffs

By JACK CONWAY

MONMOUTH BEACH, N. J., Mar. 13.—There is another racing miracle being performed here as a $1,500,000 race track is being rushed for completion for the opening of the New Jersey turf season on June 10. The new track, the brain child of Lou Smith, will conduct a 36-day meeting from June 10 through July 20, and it is expected that new attendance and mutuel betting records will be established.

As I watched a big crew of workmen erecting a grandstand that will seat 12,000, pouring cement for the supports to the clubhouse, widening the old Monmouth Park track so that it will be 100 feet wide through the home stretch and 90 feet wide in the backstretch, clearing off ground for a huge parking area, and making the approaches ready for a spur track which will connect the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central railroad with the track, I thought back to the days when Walter O'Hara built Narragansett Park and the business genius of Charles F. Adams, Bruce Wetmore and the late Joe Tomassello converted Suffolk Downs from a dump heap into a $2,500,000 racing plant in a period of 60 days.

The horses will parade from the paddock into a sunken walking ring which will be in clear view of everyone in the rear of the stands. They will then continue on to the track.

The clubhouse will seat 2000. It will have two rows of lavish private boxes on its roof. These boxes will be like large rooms. It will be possible to serve 12 persons at a table that will be placed in each box. Seats for additional persons can be placed in the boxes.

Messengers will place the bets for the occupants of the private boxes. There is a large demand for these boxes. A special committee has been appointed by the Monmouth Park Jockey Club to decide to whom the boxes will be allotted. Each box is really a private pent house and they would appeal to one like Walter O'Hara who had his own private pent house when he was boss of Narragansett Park.

Horace Wade, assistant general manager and director of publicity at Monmouth Park, and superintendent Ernest Shaw, the man who led the fight to legalize racing in New Jersey, were particularly anxious to take me to the backstretch for a view of the new barns. The barns are roomy, have plenty of ventilation and are situated 150 feet apart. This space between the barns will give the grooms and trainers plenty of space in which to walk their horses, and also reduce fire hazards.

$908,000 in Purses
The big innovation in the barn area is one that will benefit the grooms. On each end of the barns there are rooms with hot and cold water and all of the other comforts of a modern hotel suite.

Horace Wade told me there will be $908,000 in purses distributed during the 36-day meeting. There will be two $25,000 races, one $15,000 event and nine $10,000 races. When New York has a long race as a feature, Monmouth Park will conduct a sprint event. While New York is headlining the sprinters the Jersey track will give the play to distance events. This will assure Monmouth Park of ample entries for its stakes.

The Choice Stakes for three-year-olds on July 13, over a distance of 1 1/4 miles, will be a $25,000 race as will the Monmouth Handicap on July 20, over a distance of 1 1/4 miles. Ernie Shaw said he is trying to locate in New England the original Choice Stakes trophy which was sold sometime ago at an auction. The track plans to purchase the trophy if possible.

The New Jersey futurity for two-year-olds foaled in New Jersey will be held on June 26. Monmouth Park intends to do everything possible to increase interest in New Jersey breeding farms.

The Molly Pitcher Handicap for fillies and mares, on June 22, will be over a distance of one mile and a sixteenth, and it is expected to prove an outstanding feature.

Seeking Stall Space
While there are stalls for only 700 horses, applications for 800 stalls have already been received by G. M. Eddie Brennan, who once held a similar post at Agawam Park, and before that was racing secretary and a steward at Suffolk Downs. There are many large barns in the area of the track, and some of the horses that will race will be kept at these places.

The Monmouth track is situated in the heart of a huge summer colony. Mike Jacobs, the boxing promoter who lives in Redbank, was adjoining town, told me that there will be 600,000 persons within ten miles of Monmouth Park during its meeting. Newark is only 40 miles away, Philadelphia 82 miles and New York only 50 miles from the track. The running time between the track and New York by auto is 1 hour and a quarter, while the time by train is only 45 minutes.

Horace Wade says there will be 35,000 persons at the opening on June 10, while he declares he would not even try to estimate how many thousands of persons would attend the races on July 4. There will also be another new track at Atlantic City, while Camden will also be in the New Jersey racing picture.

The winner of second place in the National Hockey League race may not be determined until next Sunday season with their main foe, last night in New York the second place Rossman sent their point total to 54 against 51 for the Hawks and 48 for the Red Wings. The Canadiens are out front with 58 points.

The Bruins renew hostilities with the Rangers in the return game tonight at the Garden. The local boys are shooting hard for second place since they would rather play Detroit in the playoffs, if the latter finishes fourth. The Bruins recently have had better luck against the Wings than against the Hawks.

The Hawks and Red Wings have two games in hand which possibly could upset the Boston appeal. As the teams now stand in the regular series the Bruins have only two more games to play while their chief contenders, Hawks and Wings, have four each.

The Wings play in Chicago tonight while the Bruins are favored over the Rangers at the Garden. Then the Hawks have three road games that might spell disaster for the Chicago boys. Tomorrow night, the Hawks play in Detroit and on Saturday tackle the Canadiens in Montreal. Then follows the local game with the Bruins. Hardly a soft road assignment for Chicago.

Dit Clapper saw action last night but will not face the same team in the return game here tonight. Ross' purpose in using Clapper last night was to sharpen up the veteran in the event that he might be used in the playoffs which start March 19.

Rangers Spence-Trudell, M. Colville, Russell, L. Patrick, Gardner, Demarco, Swartz, Lowrick, Moa.

CHICAGO, March 13 (AP)—The S. R. O. sign was ready to be placed outside the Chicago Stadium again tonight as the Hawks' expected to be about 440,000, 80,000 more than the former record of 360,572 set two years ago by the Hawks.

Rockland's Giant Big Problem for R. I.

By MIKE GILLOOLY

It's an unusual high school team that can boast a 6-5 center such as Rockland High will be presenting in the elongated person of Dick Sears—jumping for the local Class

B champion against Rhode Island's junior titlist, Westerly, in a featured pairing at the Garden Saturday night.

And that same Mr. Sears will be the Little Rhody team's giant problem as it takes its place on the same program with the New England finals' program.

Westerly's closest approach to the sky-scraping Sears will be Capt. Frank Pellegrino, center, and forward Walt Nigrelli, a pair of 6.2 inch players. The remainder of the Westerly B crownholders, forward Frank Judice, and guards Irvin Pandera and Alfred Siciliano, don't top 5.8.

Still, Rockland won't win this game on height alone. Westerly has chalked up a nifty 17-2 record over the season, advancing into the semi-final round of the Class A competition. Coach James Federico, a pupil of R. I. State's Frank Keane for four years and coach of Westerly for nine, piloted his team through St. Raphael's in the opener of the A battling but then the five was eliminated by Pawtucket East in the semifinals.

That same Pawtucket club went on to win the A crown, taking its place in the New England.

Westerly turned around to trounce De La Salle of Newport in a consolation tilt, the same De La Salle that will be taking its place in the N. E. Catholic

Predict Many New Ski Sports Next Season

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Another winter may find more ski developments than skiers in New England—if all the proposed projects we've heard about materialize. 'Twill be a great boon for recreational skiers, too, for most of the present spots are jammed week-ends, with an hour's wait to ride on lifts not uncommon. Yes, the sport has grown too big for its breeches; some alterations will be needed to accommodate devotees.

A new ski development, which started to operate in mid-season, is located at the Mt. Prospect State Reservation, Lancaster, N. H. The three-quarter mile trail was hewn out of the timber under the direction of Roger Peabody, head of Cannon Mountain's Profile Ski School, and John Blackwood of the Forestry and Recreation Dept. This site also has an open slope composed of five acres of refined surface.

Latest thing in conveyances here is the "Jigaboo," a special low-peaked, over-sized wheeled truck that carries 10 skiers at a time up the road leading to the summit of the mountain. A warmed shelter has been constructed from a garage atop the peak, in back of which is the start of the Sinclair Weeks Ski Trail, a fast and sporty run.

A 1000-foot rope tow has been rolling on the slope, managed by the Mt. Prospect Outing Club.

Cranmore Mountain, North Conway, N. H., is going to have plenty of competition in a year or two. We learned from a reliable source that wealthy backers plan to clear out a huge slope on Thorn Mountain, at nearby Jackson, and install a chair lift. Gray's Inn will be reopened, with the entire layout becoming a major ski center. And one of the East's top skiers' schools is set to head the ski school.

Pics Regain Play-Offs Lead

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The defending champion Boston Olympics regained the lead in the Eastern Hockey League championship play-offs by defeating the Washington Lions, 5-1.

The loss dropped Washington back into second place.

Holy Cross, Brown On Raiders' Grid List

HAMILTON, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—Colgate University announced today an eight-game 1946 football schedule. The Raiders wind up Thanksgiving Day against Brown at Providence. The schedule:

Oct. 5, Yale at New Haven, Conn.; Oct. 12, Cornell at Ithaca; Oct. 19, Kings Point; Oct. 26, Penn State; Nov. 2, Lafayette at Easton, Pa.; Nov. 9, Holy Cross at Worcester; Nov. 16, Syracuse at Syracuse; Nov. 23, Brown at Providence.

Illness May Keep Dykes From Chisox

PASADENA, Cal., March 13 (AP)—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox was waiting word today from his doctors whether he could join his team as it starts East next week. Jimmy underwent X-ray examinations of his stomach at the Hollywood clinic yesterday.

Joyce Accepts 2d Ring Date in Week

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—Willie Joyce, lightweight contender from Indiana, who fought only two nights ago, has been signed to meet Danny Kaplow of New York in the main 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday.

Army Feather Champ Enters N. E. Bouts

Recognized as the 126-pound Army champion of troops stationed in England, James "Petey" Newell, 20-year-old Salemita, will make a bid for the N. E. crown next Tuesday night at the Arena. He chalked up 35-straight victories overseas.

Handiwork—World War II vets have started on-the-job training at the Wentworth Manufacturing Co. plant in Fall River and here's Milton Spec, infantry veteran of 22 months in Italy, showing first cotton summer dress he made there. Program has been accepted by government and International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union.

Bidder at Postoffice Auction—Little Marguerita Lopez, 4, of New York city, gathers around her some of the articles that she would like to bid on during the sale of unclaimed articles in the General Postoffice in New York. She has concentrated on dolls and teddy bears. Periodically the post-office puts on the block a great miscellany of unclaimed items ranging from golf balls to parcels of clothing.
